Friend Pulyan

As yet I have no belief that proof will comefrom you. This ink tells me nothing. Except that ignorance is eager and in it is case authority is the smart alec.

If nothing is to be gained by verbal understanding then let me repeat this is a meaningless heresay.

I will say this....I will give up my pride or whatever it takes to attain the truth. But there must be a method to this madness. You asked for words only to criticize in a manner neither reasonable nor indicative that you even know my attitude. Consequently if I am the mental number that you complain....how little chance is there to understand, intuit or feel your complex gestalts or whims.

Yes, I will TRY to be the supreme court until I find something better to relinquish unto.
